

Students should be practicing typing for 30 minutes a week on Typing.com. Students must use home row position when they are doing this. See video from Mr. Wales on the correct position. When students return to school they will turn in a log to their teacher (this will be verified once they join their teachers Typing.com classroom in the fall). Students will be tested on these skills in the fall so the practice is very important part of students' success with this skill.

Students in CS1 are expected to type 30 wpm using home row with 90% accuracy
